

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	page
Acknowledgments	XI
Abbreviations	XV

INTRODUCTION

1. Civil war and genocide in Rwanda	1
2. Historical and political background	5
3. (follows): The issue of ethnicity in the Rwandan society	13
4. Redress for human rights crimes in Rwanda from an international law perspective	16
5. Structure, scope, and method of the present research	19

CHAPTER ONE

INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL TRIALS AFTER THE 1994 GENOCIDE

6. Accountability and criminal trials after the 1994 genocide	25
7. The establishment and functioning of the ICTR	31
8. Accomplishments of the ICTR: A. Its contribution to the development of international criminal law	51
9. (follows): B. The transfer of ICTR's cases to national courts	67
10. Failures of the ICTR	73
11. States' obligation to cooperate with the ICTR and the War Crimes Rewards Program	88
12. The ICTR legacy	95

CHAPTER TWO

DOMESTIC JUDICIAL RESPONSES
TO INTERNATIONAL CRIMES

13. Prosecutions by Rwandan national courts	105
14. Customary justice after the genocide: The Gacaca courts	114
15. Gacaca courts between retributive and restorative justice	124
16. Decisions on extradition to Rwanda by national and international courts	128
17. Prosecution by foreign courts of human rights crimes committed in Rwanda	141
18. Universal jurisdiction in the Rwandan case: A test for international friendly relations in and with Africa?	144
19. Universal jurisdiction and immunity of State and State officials	151

CHAPTER THREE

MORE ON REDRESS IN AND BY RWANDA
UNDER INTERNATIONAL LAW

20. Introductory considerations on States' responsibility for gross violations of human rights	167
21. Which are the injured States?	173
22. Reparation in international law	179
23. (follows): Reparation under the Genocide Convention	184
24. The nature of the injury-harm caused by genocide and human rights crimes	190
25. The contribution of judicial and non-judicial organs to determining redress in human rights crimes	195
26. Whether some forms of redress should take priority over others	204
27. Reparations in international criminal law	215
28. Redress in Rwanda for the genocide survivors: Theory and practice	233
29. Reconciliation policies in Rwanda as guarantees of non-repetition	245
30. From the perpetrators' perspective: Apologies and offenders' rehabilitation	259

CHAPTER FOUR

REDRESS BY OTHER INTERNATIONAL ACTORS
FOR THE 1994 GENOCIDE

31. The responsibility of States and other international entities for the 1994 genocide: An introduction	267
32. States' aid and assistance in the commission of genocide in Rwanda	270
33. Redress by States responsible for not having prevented the genocide	279
34. (follows): The responsibility of other States for not having stopped the genocide	288
35. International responsibility of other than State actors for the 1994 genocide and genocide-related crimes	294
36. Responsibility of and redress by the UN and the UN peacekeepers for the 1994 genocide	308

CONCLUSIONS

37. Post-genocide redress in Rwanda: Accomplishments and missing pieces	323
38. Alliances among subjects of different legal systems to ensure redress to victims of human rights crimes	339
39. The last word: Honouring genocide victims and survivors	343
Treaties and other instruments	345
Table of cases	361
Bibliography (selected)	369